

An aerial photograph of a rural landscape. A red, irregular boundary line outlines a specific area in the center-left. The area inside the boundary is mostly brown and tan, suggesting bare earth or dry vegetation. To the right of the boundary, there is a large, rectangular, light-colored structure, possibly a building or a large shed. The surrounding area is a mix of green and brown, indicating a mix of vegetation and bare ground. A road or path runs diagonally across the lower part of the image. The text '槐树底村' is written vertically in the center of the red-outlined area.
